"Well, make up you mind so I'll know what not to wear!"

"Mrs. Jones—you always seem to look better than ever on breezy days!"

"Isn't it odd Mr. Harris, that not only are you the first mate—but you remind me of my first mate?"

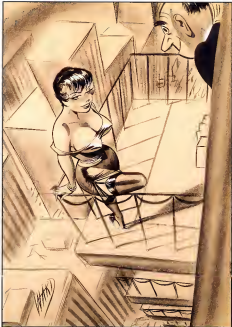

"Well maybe it does present more of a challenge this way, but I still think you should have let me wear my other bikini outfit!"

"No thank—I've danced with Americans before, and I'm afraid in your case the muscles would tickle!"

"Nobody takes me out riding nights; nobody takes me to see bright lights! Is it because I'm a gay diva?"
No . . . I think I forgot to hand her up the resolve!"

"You sure can see plenty from up here—can't you Mr. Howard?"

"And then my wife said, 'I'm the only woman on the block whose husband doesn't have a secretary!'"

"And then when I told the character I didn't want to see him anymore—he turned out the light!"

"It really got mixed up, Gus—I followed him, but then he started following me!"

"Yes I applied for a position—but not that one!"

"This what is known as a take-charge girl—I take all I can and the rest I charge!"

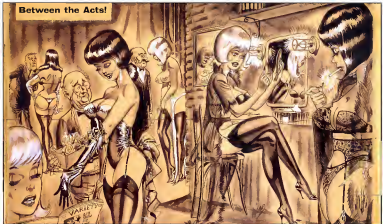

"Will you please go away miss, you're cooling my soup!"

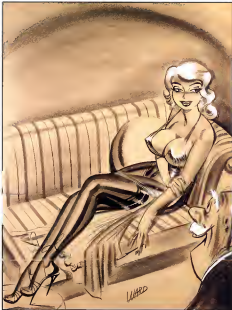

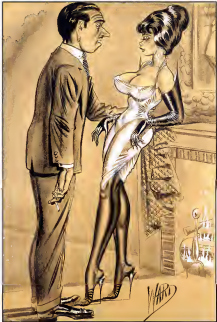

"He left an hour ago, Sheriff, but you should catch up with him—he was pretty luscious when he left!"

Between the Acts!

"I just made a terrific discovery—Miss James—I left the theater tickets in my other suit!"

"Well there was something I liked about you Harold—but I spent it all!"

"But Miss Circle—the first thing I teach my patients is to face their problems—not run away from them!"

"Oh, sis—the man who sponsored your nink is here!"

"Oh, Golly Mc Pencil—we sure drink and tomorrow I won't be able to remember a thing about tonight!"

"I don't know why I spend so much time getting ready for my dates when I always spend the evening in the parlor with the lights out!"

"I got the black eye in a war alright—a beauty!"

"I don't know why I have to dress up too to go to parties, Torchy . . . nobody ever notices me!"

"Speak to me Joe—don't go yet—which pocket has the theater tickets?"

"Pardon me, Miss, but I'm a structural engineer, and I have a rather personal question I would like to ask you!"

"Maa, I represent the sky-high still company!"

"The nerve of you trying to pick me up—me, Ethel Butts—55 Summer Street—Apt. 15B!"

"If it's money you're after—I forgot to mention that I've been out of work for nine months!"

"If I didn't know you were a gentleman, I would think you spilled that drink on my stocking deliberately!"

"Seems I can't leave you alone a moment—in answer do I go on a business trip, and you take up smoking cigars!"

"I thought I would come around and wash your windows again today—in case I missed something."

"My gosh—what happened to the second, third and fourth?"

"Yes, Boris, that is a lovely dress—the trouble is, the only place that's still open now is an all-night diner!"

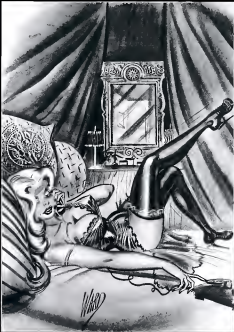

"Pussycats and you'll go far with Post and Conklin—especially Conklin!"

"The National Enquirer—just tell me—what's the big attraction?"

"The Bride with the runs at the Roman Forum—day's been there a couple of thousand years—I guess day'll still be there tomorrow!"

"I must inform you, Mr. Wengle, that I'm accustomed only to the highest standard of grrag!"

"Harry works in a bank, but I'm not worried—I'm sure he's not a teller!"

"Honest Fred, I never kiss a man goodnight, because by the time he leaves, it's morning!"

"Well, you might say I'm half in and half out!"

"Well, if you really don't know how to thank me for a great evening . . . I have a suggestion . . ."

"What do you mean you'd like my status quo?"

"You married him because it's a love match—he has a yacht and I love yachting!"

"All I want to hear from you, George, are three little words—here's my checkbook!"

"I'm the type of girl he'd like to look, but I'm out of reach of his pocketbook!"

"He looked he was a well-made man . . . started at the bottom and read it so much that he stayed there!"

"Oh yes, I know plenty of nice boys in the Navy—just gobs and gobs!"

"I want you to know that I can see through your rubber-legs!" "No! Who couldn't; after all, it's only silk!"

"All right, Honey, we can make up our minds as what to do when you get home!"

"I suppose I'm what you would call 'The other woman'—I mean in nothing but the best triangler"

"Here's to Sally, who uses the phone to prove that one need never be alone!"

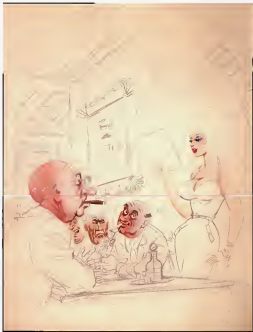

"I fit into George's arms all right—but I'm afraid I don't fit into his income!"

Maid to Please

A vintage movie poster for the film 'Maid to Please'. The central image shows a man in a light blue suit and a woman in a light blue dress dancing. The woman is wearing a large, ornate necklace. In the background, there are other people, including a woman in a red dress and a man in a white shirt. The title 'Maid to Please' is at the top in large, bold, black letters. The text 'A Paramount Picture' is in the top left corner. The text 'WB 120' is in the middle left. The text 'ADULT READING' is in the bottom right. The text 'THE FROM ORIGINAL UNIQUE ROCK' is at the very bottom.
